DEATE OF AN OLD AND FAITHFUL PUBLIC SERvarr.-John Hanckel, a colored man, known to many of our community as a news-carrier, was car ried to his long home yesterday. He was formerly a slave of the Rev. Christian Hanckel, D. D., and since the war has been employed as a carrier by Tux Nxws. In addition to his journalistic pursuits, he followed the profession of a wood-sawyer. He was a faithful and honest old man, and his sudden death has deprived this paper of a competent and reliable THE BIG INGIN .- Mr. Jose Jars, the popular to bacconist of King-street, has recently opened a branch store in Meeting-street, near the corner of Market. The stand is well adapted to business, and has been fitted up in an attractive ma nner, but the principal feature is the sign. Is (riolla, an Indian girl from the land of flowers, appears as large as life and twice as handsome, with a box of manoles in one hand and a tobacco blossom in the other. With such a sign Jose Jara cannot fail to prosper, and we commend him to the tobacco-loving public. Fire.-A fire occurred yesterday morning,

Dr. Myers, corner of Bull and Coming streets. It originated in the library on the second story, but no damage was done beyond the burning of some clothing carpets and a few books. Mr. Myers was nsured in Mr. Tupper's agency. This is the first fire that has occurred since the city was divided in fire districts, and the admirable working of the new regulations was fully demonstrated. Only the engines in the district were present. There was no noise or confusion, and the fire was soon extinguished. The firemen in the other districts were all at their posts, and were prepared to start for the fire at the first warning sound of the bell. An investigation of the fire was held yesterday by the Board of Firemasters, who reported the same to be the result of

THE PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CONVENTION .-SECOND DAY .- MAY 14 .- The Convention met acording to adjournn ent. Morning prayer was said by the Rev. Robert Tilson, and immediately after the convention was called to order by the Bishop the convention was called to order by the Bishop.

The minutes of Wednesday were read and approved, and the following members, absent on the previous day, answered to their names: Of the clergy, Revs. E. E. Bellinger, Rillison Capers, Wm. Johnson, W. W. Lord, D. D., and J. B. Bestrook; of the laity, Messrs.
W. C. Courtney and Edward Sebring.

The Bev. C. P. Gedden then read the Bishop's address. That document, which is quite long, opers with a detailed recit; of the Episcopal visitations during the year just passed, embracing sit tethents of the number of persons confirmed—of the disposition of the funds placed in his charge, the number of applicants admitted to orders, and other perticulars of the Bishop's functions. A brief tribute is paid to

Bishops Hopkins, Scott and Hawkes, lately deceased; and the condition of the schools and church seminary is noticed and commended to the consideration We make an extract from the concluding portion of the address: The whole condition of the Church in the Diocese demands your calna and serious, attention. Its prostration is even greater perhaps than it is understood to be. Let it be considered whether some plans may not be devised for increasing its contributions, and supplying with the means of life its scattered members. Let us all, clergy and laity, rive up to the thorough consideration of this subject; it is the great spiritual duty before us. The Church is our noblest and purest inheritance; we must not let it fall. Times of trial are times of grace, brether; they prove us, and they make us; suffering demands faith, and faith looks up and rests on God. We are in a severe conflict: it is the Church's test, and her opportunity. Let us hear the volce of Christ himself, addressed to one of the early Churches under like trials of faith and heart: "To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcome, and am set down with my Father in his throne."

I feel, my brethree, that I ought not to close this address without some remarks upon the general state of the church and its application to curselves. The whole condition of the Church in the Dioceso

I feel, my brethres, that I ought not to close this address without some remarks upon the general state of the church and its application to cursoives. There seems to be an unusual restlesness of the public mind both in politics and religion. In the former there is indicated a dissatisfaction with existing institutions, and strong tondencies to Democratic developments. In the church, on the contrary, there seems to be an increasing disposition in favor of visible constitutions, and a more ornate culture of external administration and worship. Extremes in this direction are producing extremes in the opposite, and thus there are engandered violent antagonisms unfavorable to calm thought, conservative influences and fust conclusions. You understand me as referring to the subject sufficiently indicated under the general designation of Ritualism. I seek to avoid everything that may produce exacerbations of mind or undue feeling of any kind, and shall not consider the subject in reference to any circumstances and extreme cases. I believe that our condition in this Diocese, thank God, enables us to pass by these, and be actuated by quiet, sober, and, shall not consider the subject in reference to any discumstances and extreme cases. I believe that our condition in this Diocese, thank God, enables us to pass by these, and be actuated by quiet, sober, and, I trust, holy thought. I beg your consideration of a few just principles. The value of the Episcopal Church to us is not to be determined by considering it as a single and separated body, with its peculiar institutions, but as it really is—a pure, central and integral branch of the Church Catholic of Jesus Christ. As such it has no limitation in its applications, but goes out for its truth and authority to the primal jountain of divine revelation, and is capable of universal expansion. I cannot now undertake the heights of the great arguments by which all this can be established in our favor; we are limited to the point of Divine worship. It is well known that our devotional service is ritual—we worship in regularly constituted, recognized and accepted forms of prayer. In some respects there may be disadvantage in this, but the controlling benefits, we think, should be obvious to every reflecting mind. These are not merely incidental, as securing an understood and holy worship, both for minister and people, and other immediate ends that might be mentioned—but chiefly in securing to us a Divine worship baptized in the holicat truths of revelation. We may fairly say that our Litturg, taken throughout, is not only a prayer, but a doctrine; the distinguishable and perfect truths of redemption and eternal life are incorporated with the whole, and wrought in with especial beauty, and the purest proportions of faith. Thus the glorious revelations of our salvation by Christ mingle themselves with the heart's purest aspirations; and the great end of prayer is attained in producing union with God. In the highest and holiest manner we are hereby made not Ohristians only, but theologians, unconsolously to ourselves and without any formal action of the understanding, Divine fruth intervewes itself with the heart's sensi May 20 1 2 m. plicity of worship, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, and submit to your godly judgments the prin-ciples I have expressed. The Committee on Certificates of Deputies report ed the following additional deputies entitled to seats, to wit: From the Church of the Holy Cross, Statesurg, Messrs. B. H. Anderson, M. Reynolds and J. N. Frierson; Grace Church, Camden, J. B. Kershaw, J. A. Young, H. C. Salmond and J. M. Davies Church of the Redeemer, Orangeburg, W. R. Treadwell; Christ Church, Mar's Bluff, E. P. cher; St. John's Church, Florence, H. S. Mellichamp and Pierre Bacot. On calling their names, Rev. P. Trapler, D.D., of fered the following resolution, which was agreed to: Resolved, That in accordance with the amendment to act III of our constitution, passed yesterday, the Rev. Dr. Hanckel and the Rev. Philip Gadsden are entitled to all the privileges of the Convention.

Mr. Trapier also presented the following, which was agreed to, and the church admitted: port that they have examined the application made by the Vestrymen and Wardens of the Church of the Advent, Marion C. H., and finding it in all respect regular, recommend that the said church be receivto union with the Convention The Committee on Credentials reported Messrs. D. S. Price and W. S. Mullins entitled to seats from said church, who appeared and took their seats. On motion of Rev. J. S. Hanckel, it was resolved that so much of the bishop's address as relates to the state of the diocese be referred to a committeee consisting of two clergymen and three laymen. The Bisliop appointed a committee consisting of Revs. J. S. Hanckel and W. B. W. Howe and Messrs. W. C. Bee, J. B. Palmer and W. A. Pringle. The Rev. C. Hanckel, D. D., presented the follow-no resolution : leed. That the portion of our Bishop's address which relates to ritualism be referred to a committee of two clergymen and one layman, to consider whether any, and if any, what action may be ad-visable in reference thereto.

On motion of Rev. A. T. Porter, the resolution was laid on the table by a vote of fifty-nine ayes to fourteen noes. The Rev. C. P. Gadsden then presented the report of the Trustees of the Diocesan Seminary. The following elections were ordered, and the tellers appointed standing committee: Tellers-Bevs. W. H. Hauckel and John Johnson, and Mesers. B. Allston and John Gadsden. For Deputies to General Convention-Tellers, Revs. A. T. Porter and R. P. Johnson, and Messre. I. S. K. Bennett and

W. C. Courtney. . . The Bishop then retired and Dr. Hanckel was called to the chair, and the tellers announced that the standing committee and the deputies to the General Convention were re-elected. The trustees of the Diocesan Seminary were re lected with the exception of Dr. L. H. Deas, withdrawn, and W. C. Bee elected in his place. The election of the Trustees of the South resulte in the same committee, with the exception of Rev. A. T. Porter in place of Rev. W. B. W. Howe, who declined, and H. W. Ravenel in place of John E. Calhoun.

The same board of missions to the colored people and freedm n were re-elected. The finance committee, the committee on University of the South, and the committee ou the colored people and freedmen presented their reports, which were read. In the report of the trustees of the University of the South, the following interesting tacts were stated: That the lands were as valuable as ever; that eight thousand dollars had been raised in England by Bishop Quintard; and that Commodore M. F. Maury had been elected Vice-Chancellor; also, that the wanton destruction of the buildings by the United States troops afford a valid claim against the government. In the report of the trustees of the Diocesan Seminary, the condition of the institution, and its insbility to continue its sessions without aid from the Convention was stated; also a sketch of its past career of usefulness. The trustees deplored the unsettled condition of affairs, and the poverty of the country, which kept the seminary from extending the advantages of education. The Committee on the Colored People and Freedmen reported :

have not been in vain. The school has been opened and closed with devotional exercises and daily religious instruction has been given. The different elerical members of the Board have visited the school weekly, giving an hour on each Friday to religious training. The children have been thoroughly taught in the church catechism, and their improvement is marked and satisfactory to this Board. We have thus far been liberally and generously supported by the freedmen's commission in New York, but we have been made anxious, lately hearing from the New York commission that their funds are running low, and that they would be compelled to cease their appropriation shortly. The parents of many of the children have pleaged themselves to pay a small monthly stipend. We hope with this and such assistance as the Board in New York can give to carry on the work. We have labored in faith, believing that we were doing a good work for the Church and the State, and have every encouragement to hope that the seed sown in due time may yield front to the glory of God and the good of souls.

We have been imable, without money or means, to extend our operations beyond this school. We rejoice to know that earnest and effective for the spiritual welfare as well as educational advancement of the freedmen. In the office they are enjoying many advantages, but in the country, removed from observation and opportunities, their mental and spiritual darkness is lamentable indeed. While the church should not relax her efforts to christianize Africa, we are persuaded she could not more wisely or humanely expend her liberality and zeal than to endeavor to christianize these Africans in our midst, and through them, if it is God's will, reach their race in their own country.
